Gracie - the still

The name given to the still. A 500 litre hybrid still which can be used as both a pot still and a column still.

Pot distilling is the traditional method and how gin has always been made, where all botanicals are macerated in the pot and then boiled.

Column stills are a newer invention; Gracie's column has 6 plates which purify the alcohol meaning the still can make pure, smooth vodkas.

In short, Gracie has the best of both worlds.

Mixing Tips

Cocktails with a lighter citrusy flavour work best with Graceful Vodka; avoid mixers with too much acidic content so it doesn't lose its cosy warmth.

A Dry Vodka Martini would be ideal as the smoothness of the vodka complements the light tartness of the Vermouth and balances the drink perfectly."
